

A. What actions and beliefs promote social control in non-Western societies? Refer to course materials, particularly the excerpts from The Forest People read for today, to list distinct beliefs that instill fear of social deviance or distinct actions that punish social deviance, which have as their end result the promotion of harmonious social relations. Give examples and note the page #s of quotes that are relevant.

B. How do societies without formal leaders, courts, or police resolve conflicts? Refer to course materials, particularly the excerpts from The Forest People read for today, to list distinct ways that non-Western societies deal with the conflicts that inevitably arise when people a) live in small communities, in face-to-face contact, day after day; and/or b) when individuals err from social norms and act in socially inappropriate behavior despite strong measures of social control.