ARIZONA

Dr. Rick Kirshner '86 - Heart Surgeon, CVC, LLC (Phoenix, AZ)

Organization: I am a heart surgeon and work in several different hospitals in the Phoenix/Scottsdale area.

Externship: The extern will have the opportunity to observe surgery, meet patients and observe in the clinical and hospital setting.

Summer Availability: TBD, perhaps end of June

Homestay Available: Yes

CALIFORNIA

Dr. Jeffrey Pearson '79 - Medical Director, Graybill Medical Group: Carlsbad (Carlsbad, CA)

Organization: Full family and sports medicine practice in San Diego County. [see website for practice details]

Externship: The ins/outs of a private medical practice. Excellent exposure for pre-med students.

Summer Availability: Flexible in June and July

Homestay Available: Yes

Elaine Hesser Giuliano '83 - Features Editor, Carmel Pine Cone Newspaper (Pacific Grove, CA)

Organization: Depending on the week, we might research and write about a wide variety of subjects, from holiday origins to pets to music and vintage cars. I edit and assemble the special sections (stuff like "Women in Business," and supplements tied to specific special events) with the owner and publisher of the paper. I also edit our quarterly magazine, "Healthy Lifestyles," write all of its content, and help choose images for it.

We might edit freelancers' work, and read and evaluate pitches (proposals for articles from freelance writers). I do a combination of telecommuting and working in the office, which is about a 40-minute drive away. I work a flexible schedule, which means that while I might be working on Memorial Day, we might take time off to go to the Monterey Bay Aquarium on a Wednesday afternoon.

Externship: Student will observe putting a weekly, hyper-local newspaper together from beginning to end. They will help prep for and conduct at least one interview, and depending on her contributions, may get a byline and/or a photo credit. If there's an area they'd like to try to write about, I'd be happy to walk them through how to do that and file an article for possible inclusion in the paper. They'll learn a little about Associated Press style, and participate in proofreading the paper before it goes to press. We'll spend a lot of time in my car, but my mobility's slightly impaired (bad knees!), so I won't take them on any long hikes. If the student is a budding photographer, they should bring her camera (or camera phone). They'll also meet the owner of a public relations firm, a freelance writer or two and a retired female editor from another newspaper who's been a mentor to me. Please read The Carmel Pine Cone at www.carmelpinecone.com. I suggest every Friday (that's when it comes out) for one month before the externship. I'll give a couple very short homework assignments and it's important that they are completed before arrival. I've specified dates tied to big local events and special sections we'll be prepping for. I suggest including a weekend (or both) on either end of the trip so we can explore Monterey County in all its diversity. We have everything from big Ag, to Steinbeck, to a huge marine sanctuary. NOTE: Based on housing, host prefers a student who identifies as female.

Summer Availability: May 29-June 2; June 5-9; July 3-7; July 10-14; July 17-21; July 31-Aug 4; Aug 7-11; Aug 14-18

Externship: A typical work week for a business associate attorney.

Summer Availability: June 19-23, July 17-21, July 24-28

Homestay Available: Yes

COLORADO

Dr. Wayne Ewing '57 - Journalist, The Wet Mountain Tribune (Westcliffe, CO)

Organization: The Tribune is in its 134th year, a weekly fixture here; our award winning writing focuses on our distinctive niche--local, community oriented news. It's not all bake sales and smiley faces; we confront controversial issues in the community, and actually scooped, in September, 2015, Colorado's largest illegal marijuana grow bust in history, an eight state, multi-agency operation that broke up a multi-million dollar Cuban cartel. And we do this from offices in a 125 year old house, complete with pot-bellied stove--and up to date technology...A free, teaser version of our weekly is available at www.wetmountaintribune.com

Externship: An extern interested in how isolated, rural communities remain alive and well with a vibrant and stimulating life, economically, politically, creatively, religiously (I'm a supply priest with historic St. Luke's Episcopal Mission here), and how the news coverage of this life remains still a bulwark of journalism at the local level would be quite engaged here. An extern exploring reportorial writing might be extensively engaged in covering, for example, the Westcliffe Center for the Performing Arts Shakespeare Festival (I'm assisting Director Dan Hiester, CU Denver, cast for this year's production of Romeo & Juliet), or our regionally noted Blue Grass Festival...and so on. We'd make certain the student had ample opportunity to hike or horseback or mountain bike in the Sangres (the Rainbow Trail extends the entire length of the range), or, as did last year's extern, raft on the wild Arkansas River through Big Horn Canyon.

Summer Availability: July 5-12

Kelly Downey P'19 - VP Digital and Shopper Solutions, Philips Personal Health (Stamford, CT)

Organization: Koninklijke Philips N.V. (Royal Philips, commonly known as Philips) is a Dutch technology company headquartered in Amsterdam with primary divisions focused in the areas of electronics, healthcare and lighting. It was founded in Eindhoven in 1891 by Gerard Philips and his father Frederik. It is one of the largest electronics companies in the world and employs around 105,000 people across more than 60 countries. Consumer Lifestyle (now names Personal Health) is headquartered in Stamford, CT and leads the distribution, sales and marketing of consumer products such as Philips Sonicare, Philips Norelco and Philips Avent for North America.

Externship: During this externship the student will gain exposure to the inner workings of how a durable goods manufacturer plans and executes digital marketing, ecommerce and consumer engagement strategies and programs in the NA market and across key retail partners. Specific exposure to the world of digital content, analytics, social media, search, etc. will be a part of the week.

Courtney Hughes '07 - Associate Director, Center for Engagement & Opportunity, New College of Florida (Sarasota, FL)

Organization: New College of Florida is a small, residential liberal arts college located on the Sarasota Bay on the Gulf Coast of Florida. A member of the state university system, it has a population of 850 students. The hallmark of New College is small class size, a 10:1 ratio, and the highest percentage of students receiving prestigious awards such as the Fulbright, Truman and Goldwater scholarships, as well as student research grants. Reporting to the Dean of Students, I am responsible for developing, implementing, and evaluating career and internship exploration and placement, fellowship development, volunteerism, job placement, work-study, and personal and professional development.

Externship: Over the summer months, I work with all of our Fulbright applicants (roughly 25 students) on their essays and application materials. The extern would observe and participate in the creation and editing of student essays, conference calls and Skype calls with applicants to discuss their potential research projects. Additionally, summer months are used for Orientation preparation, academic year assessment research, program evaluations, and staff development. Finally, the extern will assist me with day-to-day meetings and college operations that involve the working with my colleagues in the Center for Engagement and Opportunity (including internships, volunteerism, and career preparation), the Provost's Office, and the President's Office.

INDIANA

Mariah Johnson '14 - Laboratory Technician, Komen Tissue Bank (Indianapolis, IN)

Organization: The Komen Tissue Bank is a unique bio-repository of normal breast tissue, and matched serum, plasma, and DNA. Our samples are used both as normal controls in cancer research and as a system to understand the healthy breast. We hold tissue collection events 2-3 times a year and work continuously to raise awareness about the importance of understanding normal.

Externship: Most of the extern work we have available is in our office, with the possibility of a little time spent in the lab if the student is interested. We are constantly coming up with new projects that we could use help on, but some examples of previous projects our interns have done are medical follow-up calling, de-identifying mammograms, organizing supplies for our next event, retrieving sets of DNA tubes for special projects, auditing donor data, and helping at outreach events. Projects can be tailored to the student's interest but depend largely on what is most urgent at the time. The student will also be present during our weekly staff meeting which will give them an opportunity to learn a little bit about every aspect of our organization.

KENTUCKY

Dr. Melissa Zook '94 - Family Physician, London Womens Care Family Medicine (London, KY)

Organization: I am a family physician in rural, southeastern Kentucky. My patients are mostly low income women, children and elderly folks from the foothills of rural, Appalachian Kentucky. I see newborns, sick and well children, pregnant women with medical problems and adults with acute and chronic illnesses like diabetes, COPD, high blood pressure and chronic pain. I also work with patients in recovery from opiate addiction, particularly pregnant women and mothers. I also spend a lot of time helping patients cope with their mental health issues. I do office procedures like minor skin surgery, joint injections and removing the random objects that small children stick in their noses and ears. Every day is different and while these are the 'usual' things I see, after ten years in practice, I still see things that are new to me on a regular basis. I work Monday through Friday from 8 -5. I am the only physician in my office, I have a family nurse practitioner who helps me see patients. Together we see about 30-40 patients a day. My particular clinical interests include: general pediatrics adolescent medicine gay/lesbian/transgender HIV Hepatitis Addiction Depression/Anxiety/Bipolar Disorder Complex Metabolic Disorders Medical illness in pregnancy End of life medicine/palliative care

Externship: Students will spend 5 days one on one with me in the office seeing patients. Students will learn what a family physician does in practice and see a variety of patient visits including pediatric and adult patients. Students will learn about the culture of eastern Kentucky and Appalachia. We will spend time discussing the health care system in broad context, Medicaid, Medicare, the Affordable Care Act and other health care policy issues. We will talk about social, economic and family influences on health and barriers to good health including access to providers, education, transportation, adequate housing and healthy foods. We will discuss addiction, its roots, treatment and the widespread problem of opiate addiction in Eastern Kentucky. We will also talk about how public policy influences public health. We will talk about the role of mental health in wellness. We will discuss prevention and wellness including nutrition, vaccination, anticipatory guidance in childhood, suicide prevention, preventing falls in the elderly, medication safety, cancer screening and other safety/wellness issues across the lifespan. I like to introduce students to different types of health careers during the week. I enjoy getting to know the students and helping them to identify talents, skills and interests they possess that may not necessarily be represented on their transcript or CV. These are often gifts that are most valuable in a career as a health care provider. I spend a lot of time talking with the students about my work process as a physician, how I think as a physician, which resources I use and why, how I stay current with my education. Finally, I am happy to discuss my personal career arc and how I do my best to balance my work with life as a mom/wife/domestic goddess.

NORTH CAROLINA

Crystal Parker '06 - Field Marketing Team Lead, KIND Healthy Snacks (Charlotte, NC)

Organization: Since its founding in 2004, KIND has been on a mission to make the world a little kinder one snack and one act at a time. KIND was born out of our founder's desire to create a snack that was delicious and nutritious, wholesome and convenient. What began as a line of premium Fruit & Nut bars sparked the creation of an entirely new healthier snacking category. KIND's Field Marketing Team is the heart and soul of the brand. As the Field Marketing Team Lead for North Carolina, I manage the day to day work of a team of twelve Kind Brand Ambassadors in both the Research Triangle and Charlotte areas. My staff primarily attend events and pop up around city centers to sample KIND bars and other items in our product portfolio. I set up partnerships with like-minded companies, groups, and community organizations, and spend most of my time supporting my team.

Externship: We'll be out in the field meeting with partner non profits, fitness and wellness professionals, and companies with whom we are scheduling office samplings. Expect to participate in at least one KIND volunteer act with a local non profit alongside other KIND staff. There may be an opportunity for travel to the Raleigh area, if that's of interest.

Ashley Orr '10 - Public Health Analyst, Chester County Health Department (West Chester, PA)

Organization: Chester County Health Department (CCHD) is located in Southeastern PA, serving over 500,000 residents. The mission of the Chester County Health Department is to provide personal and environmental health services to residents and visitors so that they may grow, live and work in healthy and safe communities. Chester County is consistently ranked one of the healthiest counties in Pennsylvania by the County Health Rankings & Roadmaps, a Robert Wood Johnson Foundation program. In my role as the public health analyst at CCHD, I am responsible for collecting, managing, reporting, and sharing the department's public health data. CCHD strives to be very data-driven, using data to inform all decisions. I work with staff, program managers, and directors to identify and fulfill their data requirements, using both primary and secondary data sources, related to program planning, monitoring, and evaluation. I am responsible for presenting data in a clear, accurate, and visually appealing way to CCHD staff, our community partners, and the public. I am also the coordinator for Roadmap to Health, Chester County's community-driven, collaborative effort to assess the health of our community, identify the health priorities, and develop a Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP) to address them. The ultimate goal of Roadmap to Health is to better serve the people of Chester County by collaborating with organizations that take action, make an impact, and work to improve health and quality of life throughout the county. CCHD is one of the critical partners in this community initiative and has made a commitment to continue to be the coordinating agency for the partnership; additional partners include hospitals, clinics, community organizations, funders, and county departments. CCHD is also pursuing Public Health Accreditation, a voluntary national accreditation for health departments at the tribal, local, and state levels. I am coordinating this effort in our department, facilitating work groups to identify, collect, create, and modify the required documents to submit to the Public Health Accreditation Board. The Public Health Accreditation Board (PHAB) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to improving and protecting the health of the public by advancing the quality and performance of Tribal, state, local, and territorial public health departments.

Externship: The extern will have the opportunity to learn about the different aspects of public health, including administration, personal health services, environmental health services, and community health. I will arrange meetings and shadowing experiences with other CCHD staff to give them exposure to the wide array of public health services that are provided by a local health department. They will learn about the Roadmap to Health initiative and have the opportunity to participate in Roadmap meetings and meet community partners involved in the initiative. Through participation in the accreditation workgroups, the extern will learn about the accreditation process and gain an understanding of the level of performance that is expected from an exceptional public health department. The extern will also have the opportunity to contribute to the department by completing a mini-project related to Roadmap to Health or Accreditation activities, which will be shared with relevant staff and partners.

Frank Martin '63 - Special Projects Coordinator, Morgan's Wonderland (San Antonio, TX)

Organization: Morgan's Wonderland is a unique 25-acre, ultra-accessible theme park for children that includes four rides, an 8-acre fishing lake and over 20 additional attractions. The park opened in 2010 and is the only known park in the world that was designed to fully accommodate children with disabilities but open for everyone to enjoy. The park and an adjacent special-needs school, The Academy at Morgan's Wonderland, were founded by and under the direction of, a successful businessman and philanthropist whose daughter, Morgan, has special needs. Currently under construction is a new fully-accessible water park that will open in April 2017. (See website for details.) As Special Projects Coordinator, I get involved with a variety of projects assigned to me by the park's General Manager including fundraising, relationships with area hotels, volunteers, interns, etc. I started in the park when it first opened after retiring from the nonprofit sports organization that I created and directed for over 25 years and have lived in San Antonio since 1979 so I am very knowledgeable about both the park and the city.

Externship: The student(s) will receive meaningful experiences in a variety of areas. They will not just shadow me but also the General Manager, Programs Director, Events Planner and other key staff as their schedules permit. Student(s) will participate in all levels of park operations ranging from helping plan special events to serving as ride attendants. Most importantly they will develop an understanding as to how we integrate special needs individuals into a theme park environment. As time permits they will be able to tour and receive briefings on the adjacent facilities and operations described above.

Dr. Tina Hanlon '75 - Associate Professor of English, Ferrum College (Ferrum, VA)

Organization: I'm an English professor at a small liberal arts college in Ferrum, VA that was founded 104 years ago as a Methodist mission school serving rural children. I can talk to students about any aspect of teaching undergraduate English in composition classes, general studies literature, introductory linguistics, children's literature, professional writing, and Appalachian literature. In May I teach a 3-week course in Folktales and Literature. My research focuses on children's literature, folktales, and Appalachian literature. I participate in team teaching in an interdisciplinary freshman learning community focused on modernization and traditions in Appalachia, and also a multidisciplinary course on the Holocaust. I have taught summer graduate courses in children's literature for Hollins University in Roanoke. I am director of the web site AppLit: Resources for Readers and Teachers of Appalachian Literature for Children and Young Adults. I have written recently about the Hunger Games series and many other depictions of mining communities in children's and young adults books.

Externship: From May 8-26 I'll teach a 3-week sophomore-level course on World Folktales and Literature. A student visiting then would observe my teaching preparation and my class, which includes discussion of readings, author visits, storytelling, and related activities, with some emphasis on Appalachian folklore and traditions. From late June to late July I would take a visiting student from Ferrum to Roanoke for lectures and related activities of the Hollins University summer graduate programs (MA/MFA) in the study, writing, and illustration of children's literature. Internationally known authors, illustrators, and scholars give public lectures during the summer term. The extern could learn about the research and writing I will finish in July for an overview of folktales in children's literature and a conference paper on the fantasy novel "The Phantom Tollbooth." An extern interested in Appalachian literature, folklore, or language could learn about and get a bit of experience editing or writing material for my web site AppLit and could visit the Blue Ridge Institute's archives and farm museum at Ferrum College as well as nearby music venues. An extern interested in mountaintop removal coal mining and environmental problems could explore those issues here, meet some ecologists and/or activists, and talk with me about literary depictions of mining history and activism. A student interested in dramatic adaptations could probably meet the founder of the Jack Tale Players and would learn about my research on folktale adaptations and community theatre based at Ferrum since 1975. I could also work with students on Holocaust literature for children and young adults or dragons in children's literature.

Dr. David Marcello P'16 - MD, Associate Professor Pediatrics, Pediatric Hospitalist, Children's Hospital of Richmond, Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) (Richmond, VA)

Organization: Children's Hospital of Richmond (CHoR) is the major children's medical center in central Virginia. As a tertiary care site, CHoR has multiple clinical specialties (Cardiology, Hematology/Oncology, Pulmonary-to name a few) for outpatient care, a dedicated Pediatric Emergency Department and a medium sized inpatient unit for acute care of children. A pediatric hospitalist provides care to the majority of children admitted to the inpatient unit. Diseases range from gastroenteritis (vomiting and diarrhea) with dehydration, pneumonia, asthma, cellulitis with or without abscess, inherited disorders of metabolism and infections such as urinary tract infections and meningitis. The hospitalist supervises the learning of medical students and residents (physicians in training) during their inpatient experience (also known as a rotation). Communication is a huge portion of the job as the family, the primary care physician, the subspecialist(s) and nursing team members must be kept up to date on the clinical course of the patient. Quality improvement and safety are always paramount for the hospitalist.

Externship: The daily routine of a pediatric hospitalist- supervising and providing direct care to pediatric patients admitted to the hospital, supervising and providing education of medical students and residents, acting as the communication link between all team members and how to provide care of the highest value and safety to patients. The day(s) will start @ 0800 hours and typically runs through until 1700 hours (8AM-5PM). NOTE: The number of day(s) could range from 1-2 depending upon the student's needs. Most students in the past have done 2 days.

Lauren Keefe '09 - Attorney, Krooth & Altman, LLP (Washington, DC)

Organization: In 1947, Krooth & Altman's founding partners, David Krooth and Norman Altman, envisioned the firm as a means of providing the highest level of legal expertise and strategic counseling. K&A maintains that strong tradition in a national law practice focused on real estate and capital finance and related business matters that promote decent, affordable housing and healthcare facilities throughout the United States. Our attorneys pride themselves as "lawyers' lawyers," with decades of experience in laws and public policy related to all aspects of real estate; including multifamily housing and healthcare financing, debt and equity transactions, taxable and tax-exempt financings, mortgage and investment banking, secondary market debt transactions, project subsidies and credit enhancements, tax, employment, corporations, partnerships and alternative entity organizational structures, and debt relief and restructuring. Our clients include a wide array of national bankers, developers, and investors in real estate and mortgage finance activities. The externship opportunity will be with K&A's Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac housing practice group.

Externship: During the 3-day externship, the extern will have the opportunity to shadow an attorney, a Gettysburg alumna, who practices in our Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac group. As part of this experience, the extern will observe the daily interactions between clients and counsel. The externship will serve as an introduction to the intricacies of multifamily commercial real estate financing. The extern will experience the negotiating skills as well as a sample of the work required to successfully structure such financing, including detailed review of title documents and land surveys, regulations, organizational documents, legal opinions, and loan documents.

Madeline Shepherd '09 - Associate Director of Federal Policy, Council for a Strong America (Washington, DC)

Organization: Council for a Strong America (CSA) is a multi-issue, national nonprofit advocacy organization comprised of five membership groups including law enforcement leaders, retired admirals and generals, business executives, faith leaders, and elite athletes and coaches. Our mission is to advance state and federal investments in programs and policies that can help at-risk children and youth get – and stay – on a path towards success in life, including through high quality early learning, child nutrition and physical education, juvenile justice, and home visiting programs. The Federal Policy Team plays a critical role in this mission by developing and executing all federal legislative strategy, primarily by building and leveraging relationships with Congressional offices and White House staff.

Externship: A student shadowing the Federal Policy Team can expect to see how CSA’s lobbyists strategize and implement collaborative issue campaigns across teams, including representatives from the membership groups as well as the research, communications, and digital teams. They will also learn some of the ways a nonprofit organization can influence public policy, including through direct lobbying, traditional media, and “grasstops” organizing. The Federal Policy Team operates in a professional and fast-paced, people-driven environment.

VERMONT

Dr. Marc Greenblatt P'19 - Professor of Medicine, University of Vermont College of Medicine (Burlington, VT)

Organization: I am an oncologist at the University of Vermont Medical Center, and a researcher in cancer genetics. My work combines patient care, teaching, and research. I see patients who have gastrointestinal cancers, and also do consultations for patients who may have genetic predisposition to cancer. Most weeks, I see patients two full days and pursue academic and administrative activities the other three days. Non-patient-care activities include meeting with research colleagues (in person and by phone), writing and reviewing papers and grant applications, and attending oncology educational conferences.

Externship: The extern will learn about the practice of cancer medicine and cancer research by observing an oncology practice at an academic medical center, observing interactions with cancer patients, attending oncology educational activities, and being exposed to cancer genetics research that focuses on how we interpret genetic variation. Students with an interest in computer or statistical skills could contribute to research projects.
